To the READER.

How profitable it is to observe those Forms which the Law approves, daily experience doth sufficiently demonstrate; for that hereby all assurances are rendered plain and manifest to every capacity, and fortified against all exceptions. But the captious age wherein we live, that so busily examines and eagerly pursues all advantages and shifts whatsoever, will certainly drive every man to his just defence; and make this Book as welcome as it is undoubtedly necessary.

Here is presented to thy hand a faithfull Collection of Precedents of all sorts, which for the variety will fit every mans occasions, and for the clearenesse will be usefull to any understanding, who may at all times readily find these sound instructions, if either the distance of his

And in this ſecond impreſſion, to complete the deſign that was intended by this Book, are added moſt certain directions of all Writs to the ſeveral Cities, Burroughs, Hundreds, and Balwynicks of England, and the reſpective Mayors, Bailiffs, & Gouvernors thereof; for default whereof and Errour wherein ſo many nonſuits do daily happen, and Writs of Errour are afterwards brought to the endangering of the whole cauſe and perplexity and vexation of the Client, which names both of Men and Women, with their several Trades and Employments nature.

Hereby it will not be easie to mistake,

The following is a list of the names of the persons who have been admitted to the office of the Secretary of the Board of Education since the first of January, 1887, to the first of January, 1888.
The names are given in alphabetical order, and are followed by the date of admission, and the name of the person to whom the office was assigned. The names are given in full, and are not abbreviated.
The names are given in full, and are not abbreviated.

The Explanation of the Almanack.

HAVING on the upper part the Months, and under them the Figures for the dayes of the Moneth, from 1. till 31. under them your Dominical Letters, and in the lower part the Letters for the dayes of the Week, from Sunday to Saturday; on each side you have the year of our Lord from 1660. till 1687. on each side them is your Dominicall Letters. Now to know your day, first, find out your Year, next your Dominical letter against that year, which letter find in the lower part of your Almanack, and the letter under that is the day of the Week for your observation for the whole year. Onely every Leap year you have two Dominical Letters, which you must observe, the first for January and February, and the next for all the year after.

IN the year 1660. you find the letters A. G. A directs you to Saturday for January and February, and G. to Sunday for all the year after: so that you find the first Saturday in January is the seventh day, and under that Saturdayes for that Moneth, and under February 4. which are Saturdayes for that Moneth: But in March you must observe G. which directs you to Sunday, so that the first Sunday in March is the fourth day, and so you reckon forward. April and July, the first Sunday is the first day of the Moneth, and so of the rest. In the year 1661, you find your Dominical letter F. which directs you to Monday, which is your observation for that year, and so you find the rest: and when you are at 1687. you
